Writing and Reading Reciprocity

Daily, Explicit Process Writing Instruction

Daily lessons are dedicated to the writing process—self-selected and text-based—with grammar infused.

Teacher's Resource System

Dedicated time is devoted to writing instruction and practice.

- Daily process writing lessons
- Grammar integrated
- Modeling using mentor texts

Writing Connected to Reading

In each unit, students engage in one of two types of process writing lessons during dedicated writing time.

Texts from Reading Lessons

Dedicated Support for Writing Progression in K-1

Prewriting

Teaching grip, proper posture, and the five strokes.

Drawing to Writing

Three-step process to draw message, label message, and write sentences.

Process Writing

Teach the writing process and gradually build stamina.

Benchmark Advance fosters classroom environments where all writers thrive, so their voices build a more inclusive and equitable world.”

—Patty McGee, Program Author

Students Write Across the Three Text Types

- Informative/explanatory
- Narrative
- Opinion

Poetry also included!

On-Demand Writing

Numerous opportunities for writing are woven throughout the program.

Writing Foundations

Handwriting Practice

Cursive Handwriting Practice

Encoding During Phonics Instruction

Students apply phonics and high-frequency word instruction in writing and in response to decodable and shared reading texts.

Handwriting and Cursive Writing Practice

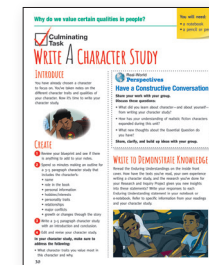

Practice in handwriting (K–2) and cursive writing (2–6) is integrated into instruction and ties directly to the unit topic.

Writing to Build and Demonstrate Knowledge

Knowledge Blueprint

Students record information from unit complex texts to support their growing understanding of the unit Enduring Understandings.

Culminating Tasks

Students write responses to each unit's Enduring Understanding, and include supporting detail gained from unit readings, research and discussions.

Unit and Interim Assessments

Students respond to multiple passages and write to prompts aligned to the three target text types.

Research and Inquiry Projects

Using multiple texts, students analyze the unit topic in projects of increasing challenge.

Writing to Process Meaning from Texts

Text Annotation

Students annotate complex texts in the consumable Texts for Close Reading as they apply strategies and look for text evidence to support answers and inferences.

Apply Understanding Using Text Evidence

Students demonstrate their strategy and content knowledge by responding to questions using text evidence.

Text Evidence Questions and Writing Tasks for Every Small Group Text

Every knowledge-building small group text comes with a Text Evidence Question Card. Every Teacher's Guide includes writing tasks.
